MAHASURYAKUMBHA - 2015

- A project of Solar Energy

We have heard and read about importance of use of Renewable Energy in the fight against Global warming and its consequent adverse impact on the humanity. Driven by concern over Global climate change, Keshav Srushti, a “not for profit” organization committed to propagate access to this “reliable energy” took initiative to hold Mahasuryakumbha - 2015 during the fortnight January 15th till 31st, 2015 with active participation of 15,000 children simultaneously making their own solar ovens and cooking food in it and in the process inspire millions other to celebrate sustainable living practices.

In the environment of possibilities, Keshav Srushti stepped in to make a difference by involving children and parents in one of the unique events of our times. Last year, on 4th, January 2014, it organized an event with participation of 3639 students and achieved an unique distinction for holding the largest solar cooking festival in the world and, incidentally made an entry in Guinness, Asia, India & Limca books of world records. The organization continued with its mission to propagate importance of the ‘Akshay Oorja’ for overall betterment of our society by inspiring people to adopt sustainable energy practices.

Inspired by the grand success of Suryakumbha 2014, and positive effects it created on the minds of children and youth, this year Keshav Srushti decided to organize an awareness drive on bigger scale by holding similar events concurrently at multiple locations with participation of many school. Mahasuryakumbha - 2015, is an outcome of this initiative on a much larger scale with participation of over 15,000 students across various schools in Mumbai, Navi Mumbai and rural areas of Thane District from 15th January till 31st January 2015. To make it more inclusive, Keshav Srushti took special efforts to reach out to tribal students from Javhar, Mokhada, Vikramgad and Shahapur. All these children were sponsored by some donors. During this fortnight, people across the Globe witnessed an extraordinary event of thousands of students simultaneously cooking food in self assembled solar cookers at multiple locations at the same time.

This event was open for students of class 7th to 9th and all participants received a Certificate of Participation. The cost of the self assembled Solar Cooker at Rs 450/- with a working life of ~ 3 years was made available at a subsidized cost of Rs 300/-.

Whereas, this will send a strong message to the countrymen about Clean India Campaign as it will help cut down pollution and also will save the overused energy sources like gas, coal and wood.

Never before had so many people experienced the simplicity of harnessing solar energy, using ordinary materials and creating a festival out of it.

Dr. Asmita Hegde, the Managing Committee Member of Aami Goenkar was the event co-ordinator of the entire event.

Meeting with Dr. Wilfred M. Mesquita –
NRI Commissioner, Goa

On 10th October 2014, Managing Committee members hosted Dr. Wilfred M. Mesquita, NRI Commissioner, Goa. We appraised him about various initiatives and programs of Aami Goenkar. He appreciated work being done by our organization and offered to be an enabler in resolving issues and concerns of Non Resident Goans. He offered to make an appeal to Goa Government to set up a desk at upcoming Goa festival during February 6-8, 2015 so that Goans residing in Mumbai could approach representatives of Goa Government and present their problems and seek solutions. He also offered to be a facilitator to progress various proposals of our institution with Goa Government. We are thankful to Dr Mesquita for volunteering to help our institution resolve issues being faced by Goans residing outside Goa.

GOAN-BORN JOSEPH VAZ GRANTED SAINTHOOD BY POPE FRANCIS IN SRI LANKA

Pope Francis gave Sri Lanka its first saint on Wednesday at a Mass for hundreds of thousands of people packed on a Colombo oceanfront, in a climax to a 300-year campaign to recognise the holiness of Goan-born missionary Joseph Vaz.

Thousands of Indians travelled to Colombo to witness to canonization.

The pope told to the crowd that Vaz was an example of religious tolerance relevant to Sri Lanka.

"Saint Joseph shows us the importance of transcending religious divisions in the service of peace," he said, delivering a message resonant for the nation recovering from a long war between mainly Buddhist Sinhalese and Hindu Tamils.

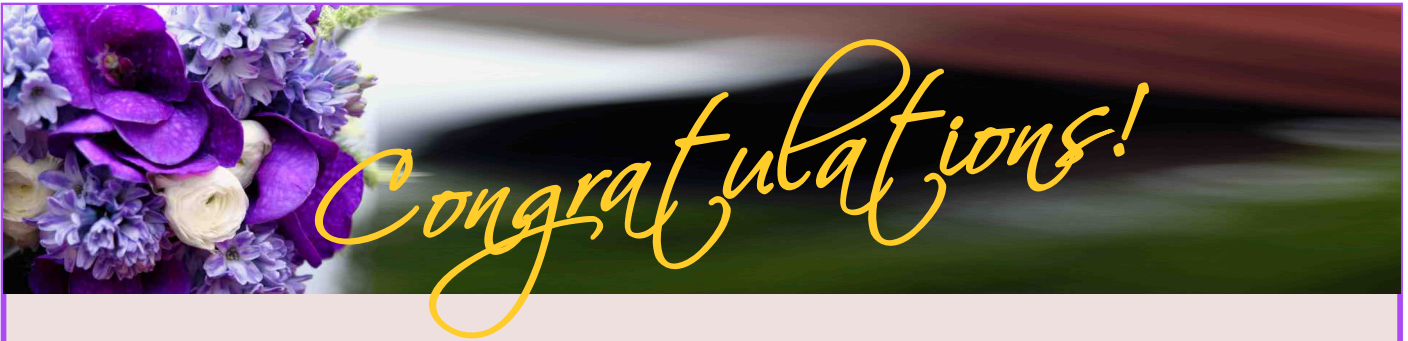

Vaz, who was captured as a suspected spy after he crept into the tropical island in disguise was born in 1651 in India's Goa, then a Portuguese colony.

Francis, speaking slowly in English, said Christians should follow the example of Vaz to build peace, justice and reconciliation in Sri Lanka. Catholics make up about 7 percent of Sri Lanka's population, while 10 times as many people follow Buddhism.

He bent Church rules and dispensed with a regulation that normally requires a second miracle to be attributed to a candidate for sainthood. Vaz was beatified by Pope John Paul during a visit to Sri Lanka 20 years ago.

Vaz remained in Kandy until his death in 1711, by which time the Church says he had converted 30,000 people and created a network of priests, almost single handedly re-establishing Catholicism in Ceylon.

We congratulate MANOHAR PARRIKAR – BHAI on his induction into the Council of Ministers of the Union Government on November 9, 2014, and for being appointed as the Defense Minister. He endeared himself to the people of Goa with his personal rapport and dedication to the cause. He is a simple person with high education, integrity, an astute administrator and has demonstrated good governance in public life. He is a role model of many. He was Chief Minister of Goa, first from 2000 to 2005, and later from March 2012 to November 2014. He was born in a Gaud Saraswat Brahmin family at Mapusa, Goa. He is originally from nearby village Parra as indicated in his name "Parrikar." He studied at Loyola High School, Margao. He completed his secondary education in Marathi and went on to graduate in metallurgical engineering from IIT Bombay in 1978. He is the first IIT graduate to become the Chief Minister of any Indian state. He was awarded by IIT Bombay with the Distinguished Alumnus Award in 2001. During his tenure as Chief Minister, the State of Goa witnessed significant involvement of youngsters in politics. He was reluctant to leave Goa and move to Delhi, and had to take a tough decision to accept persuasive request of our Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who has highest regards for Parrikar's abilities and to manage crucial portfolio of Defense. We all feel safe with Bhai, as our nation's security is in competent hands.

We congratulate CA SURESH PRABHU son-in-law of Goa, for his induction into the Council of Ministers on November 9, 2014 and for being appointed as Railway Minister of India. Suresh Prabhu completed his high school from Sharadashram Vidya Mandir, Dadar, Mumbai, followed by a Bachelor in Commerce with Honours from M.L. Dahanukar College, Vile Parle, Mumbai. He received a Bachelor in Law degree from the New Law College, Mumbai. Suresh Prabhu is a Chartered Accountant with a rank in CA exam. He is concurrently working on two Ph.D. programs in Climate Change from Freie University Berlin and Public Finance from Mumbai University.

Suresh Prabhu has held several government and semi government positions, which includes chairmanship of Maharashtra State Finance Commission, Saraswat Co-operative Bank, Member of the Maharashtra Tourism Development Board, among others. Suresh Prabhu has travelled to more than 100 countries. He is working with 16 global organizations and on 9 strategic dialogues. He was Cabinet Minister in Atal Bihari Vajpaaee's Government at various times during 1998 to 2004 as Industry Minister, Minister of Environment and Forests, Minister of Fertilizers & Chemicals, Power, Heavy Industry and Public Enterprises. As the Union Minister for Power he won praise for his performance. As Minister of Power, Suresh Prabhu introduced major reforms in India's power sector. He is credited with championing and enacting the Electricity Act of 2003 and the reforms that created securitization of dues from the states. He was also Chairman of Task Force for Interlinking of Rivers with a status and rank of Union Cabinet Minister. He was elected a member of the World Bank parliamentary network and chaired the South Asia Water regional group of the World Bank. Asiaweek rated him as one of

We congratulate LAXMIKANT PARSEKAR on his appointment as 11th Chief Minister of State of Goa, on November 8, 2014. He is the member of the Goa Legislative Assembly from Mandrem constituency. Laxmikant Parsekar was born at Harmal village, Pernem taluk of Goa. He has done his M.Sc (1980) and B.Ed (1981) from Centre of Post Graduate Instruction & Research, Panaji, Goa, (then Bombay University). He was the principal of Harmal Panchakroshi Secondary School, Harmal, Goa. He served as the Goa Health Minister at the time of being appointed Chief Minister. He was instrumental in building the BJP's support base along with political veterans like Manohar Parrikar, Rajendra Arlekar, now Goa Assembly Speaker, and Shripad Naik, Union Minister for Tourism.

PROFESSIONAL CORNER

- No Capital Gains on Sale of FSI by housing societies, rules High Court.

■ A housing society does not have to pay capital gains tax when it sells additional FSI to a builder, says a recent Bombay high court order. Development Control regulation, 1991, provide for grant of additional FSI if an existing building is redeveloped. The society can utilize it either for extension of the existing building, construction of a new building or even sell it to a builder.

- The favourable order will bring cheer to many old housing societies that have entered into redevelopment agreements or plan to do so.
- Above HC tax order on FSI sale is set to boost redevelopment.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S 10K RUN

Pinkathon's ethos is to get more women to run for their wellbeing and for the betterment of society.

Sharmila Kamat Munj, of Goan origin, is Mumbai runner and lead ambassador for the Pinkathon women's run.

Pinkathon, also supports breast cancer prevention.

Running was transformational for Sharmila, bringing a fresh dose of self-belief and positivity into her life amidst a sea of personal challenges.

"I discovered I was a different person. There was something happening within me, and I thought if I could rub it off on to other women, we would be a great society." She says.

Sharmila Says further - "You have to believe in people, tell them what you want, spread the message and extend the opportunity. And that has been the magic of Pinkathon".

What India really needs is a healthier society.
